

KILLIS P. ALMOND, FAIA, RID, President
Killis Almond & Associates, Inc. - San Antonio, Texas

Killis Almond, FAIA, RID is president of Killis Almond and Associates, Inc., San Antonio, TX. His education and professional experience in preservation extends for 36 years, and his professional practice as a registered architect concentrating in the preservation of historic resources and cultural resource management spans the last 30 years. He has undertaken numerous design and construction projects involving stabilization, restoration and adaptive use of historic structures.

He has been the theatre project architect on over 12 theatres throughout the U.S. He is highly experienced in the physical investigation of buildings and has produced numerous historic structure reports, cyclical maintenance programs, adaptive use feasibility studies and historic preservation plans. Project types include the 1884 Gothic Adobe Monastery in Stanton, TX to the 1948 Deco Alameda Theatre in San Antonio. Almond has received numerous awards for the high quality of his restoration work, including the Texas Historical Commission's Award of Excellence in Historic Architecture for the restoration of the Paramount Theatre in Abilene and the Old Main Building at Blinn College in Brenham.

He has also personally received the Texas Award for the Preservation of Historic Architecture. He received the National 1998 Excellence in Construction Award of Merit from the Associated Builders and Contractors for the rehabilitation of the Ritz Theatre, Tiffin, OH. In 1999 Almond was named a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects for his significant contribution to preservation in the architectural profession.